

Earth to Sky a special concert inspired by our connection to the Earth

Domenic DeCicco, Candida Valentino & Michael Ormiston will be performing music from a selection of their albums and join each other for various pieces. The evening will feature Native American Flutes, Mongolian Khöömii Overtone Singing, Morin Khuur, Mantra, Himalayan Singing Bowls, gongs, heartfelt songs, acoustic guitar, Indian Chakra Shlokas and much more.

Domenic DeCicco is an acclaimed multi-instrumentalist, vocalist and composer/producer, who has travelled the world sharing his music as a solo artist and as co-founder/lead vocalist of the innovative acoustic roots band, Praying for the Rain. He is a deeply soulful and compelling musician and storyteller who brings a rich, uncluttered quality to his music that fills his songs with evocative imagery and lyrical narrative. He will be performing songs from his new album, Earth to Sky as well as from his 2021 release Never Letting Go.

Michael Ormiston is the UK's most experienced Mongolian Khöömii (Overtone) Singer, a multi-instrumentalist, composer, workshop leader and therapeutic sound practitioner. Michael's Khöömii and overtone/undertone singing can be heard on his many CDs, Hollywood films, television documentaries, theatre and dance productions. Michael is a very skilful, creative and experienced Tibetan/Himalayan Singing Bowl and Gong player, using them in performance and meditation.

Candida Valentino is singer and instrumentalist specialising in Overtone & Undertone Singing, Mantras, Bowls, gongs and is a Kirtan leader and sings Shlokas and Vedic Chants in Sanskrit. Originally trained in visual arts and theatre design, she later discovered the world of Sound Healing, Mindfulness meditation, movement through Qigong and Yoga.
